

It's a trick, not a treat

This Halloween, don't be tricked by a wolf in sheep's clothing.

The Baltimore-based developers who own Reston National Golf Course care about one thing: building housing on the golf course to make millions and millions of dollars.

The Reston National Neighborhood Study Group is all about disinformation, designed to distract Restonians from the developers' true intent.

They get millions and millions of dollars.

We get more congestion and lose almost half of our precious green space. Forever.

They win. We lose.

Don't be tricked. Learn more at RescueReston.org about how to keep housing off our golf course.
