Zoning District: PRC

Dear Mr. Looney:

This is in response to your letter of April 20, 2012 to Eileen McLane requesting certain zoning information regarding the referenced property. Our files contain the following information:

The referenced property is zoned PRC, Planned Residential Community District, and is subject to development plans approved in conjunction with three rezoning applications: RZ C-135, which was approved by the Board of Supervisors on February 17, 1971; RZ C-203, which was approved by the Board of Supervisors on February 17, 1971; and RZ C-281, which was approved by the Board of Supervisors on September 29, 1971. There are no proffered conditions, special exception, special permit, or variance approvals for the referenced property. Copies of the PRC District regulations, the zoning approval letters for the above applications, and a copy of the Tax Map showing the zoning of surrounding properties are enclosed.

The property is developed with a golf course, the development of which preceded the rezoning of the property to the PRC (then RPC) District. Our records indicate that As Built Site Plan #1591 entitled "South Golf Course Club House," was approved on November 3, 1970 for the addition of a golf course clubhouse. Additional minor site plans and site plan waivers were subsequently approved for other structures and modifications to the golf course. According to our records; it appears that the referenced property was developed in accordance with all applicable County and Zoning Ordinance regulations in effect at the time of construction.

According to our records, there are no pending rezoning, special exception, special permit, or variance applications with regard to the referenced property. In addition, there are no outstanding zoning violations or zoning enforcement actions against the referenced property.

You have also inquired about the potential for redevelopment of the property to uses other than a golf course. At the time of the filing of the referenced rezoning applications, the use of the property as a golf course had previously been established. Each of the three rezoning applications included a portion of the golf course property within a larger rezoning area and included "golf course" as a proposed and ultimately approved use. Although complete copies of the approved development plans have not been located, it is clear from the existing documentation obtained from both the Department of Planning and Zoning and the Clerk to the Board, including discussions in the staff reports, statements of justification for the rezoning applications and the public hearing notices published in the Herndon-Reston Globe in February 1971, that a golf course was the intended use of the referenced property. Also included in our files was a note to the file in 1995 from the then Zoning Administrator, Jane Gwinn, stating that the Board of Supervisors approved development plans for rezoning applications RZ C-203 and RZ C-281 did include the golf course on the development plans.

The Reston Master Plan is incorporated into the Fairfax County Comprehensive Plan by reference in the Reston Community Planning Sector of the Upper Potomac Planning District in Area III. In Figure 39, entitled "Reston Master Plan, Land Use Plan", the referenced property is shown as "open space". Properties which are planned for low, medium, or high density residential uses are so illustrated on this plan. Additionally, in Figure 40, entitled "Reston Master Plan, Community Facilities Plan", the property is shown as a resource in the category of "Major open space, parks, golf courses, nature center". Any alternative development of the property that cannot be construed as open space, parks, golf course, or nature center would require an amendment to the Fairfax County Comprehensive Plan.

Further, Par. 9 of Sect. 16-202 states, "Once a development plan has been approved, all subsequent approvals, uses and structures shall be in substantial conformance with the approved development plan and any development conditions associated with such approval. Should there be cause for amendment of the development plan or any portion thereof, such amendment shall be processed as a new submission. A development plan amendment application may be filed on a portion of the property subject to an approved development plan, upon a determination by the Zoning Administrator that the amendment (a) would not adversely affect the use of the property subject to the development plan and conditions but not incorporated into the amendment application, (b) would not inhibit, adversely affect, or preclude in any manner the fulfillment of the development plan and conditions applicable to the area not incorporated into the amendment application, and (c) would not increase the overall approved density/intensity for the development. The portion of the development plan and previously approved conditions which are not subject to the amendment request shall remain in full force and effect." As such, because the property was specifically approved for a golf course, any redevelopment of the property to a use other than a golf course would require approval of a development plan amendment (DPA). This determination is consistent with previous determinations made under similar circumstances. Additionally, in accordance with Sect. 16-203, a PRC Plan approval will also be required for a change in use of the property.

EXHIBIT 10

You have submitted a copy of a zoning compliance letter dated March 30, 1993, from Melinda Artman, the then Deputy Zoning Administrator for Permit, Plan Review, which references the PRC District regulations and notes that "…..[a] commercial golf course is a permitted use in the PRC District within an area designated as Residential Uses on an approved preliminary site plan." Contrary to the conclusion drawn in your letter, this statement does not expressly grant nor imply the category of "Residential Uses" within the PRC District to the referenced property. This statement merely indicates that a golf course could be located within an area designated for residential uses. No determination was made regarding whether conversion of the existing golf course to residential uses would be permitted on the property.

In summary, it is clear based on the previous approvals that redevelopment of the property from a golf course to residential uses would first require an amendment to the Reston Master Plan which is part of the Fairfax County Comprehensive Plan, as well as subsequently obtaining both a DPA approval and PRC Plan approval from the Board of Supervisors. Please contact the Planning Division at 703-324-1380 for information regarding requesting amendments to the Reston Master Plan, and the Zoning Evaluation Division at 703-324-1290 for information about filing DPA and PRC Plan applications. This determination has been reviewed and approved by the Zoning Administrator.

Enclosed for your records is Receipt #2012-0536 for the zoning compliance letter fee. I trust this satisfactorily responds to your request. Should you have any additional questions, please feel free to contact me at 703-324-1314.

Sincerely,

PART 3 6-300 PRC PLANNED RESIDENTIAL COMMUNITY DISTRICT

6-301 Purpose and Intent

The PRC District is established to permit the development of planned communities on a minimum of 750 contiguous acres of land, which at the time of the initial rezoning to establish a PRC District is owned and/or controlled by a single individual or entity. Such planned communities shall be permitted only in accordance with a comprehensive plan, which plan, when approved, shall constitute a part of the adopted comprehensive plan of the County and shall be subject to review and revision from time to time.

The PRC District regulations are designed to permit a greater amount of flexibility to a developer of a planned community by removing many of the restrictions of conventional zoning. This flexibility is intended to provide an opportunity and incentive to the developer to achieve excellence in physical, social and economic planning. To be granted this zoning district, the developer must demonstrate the achievement of the following specific objectives throughout all of his planning, design and development.

1. A variety of housing types, employment opportunities and commercial services to achieve a balanced community for families of all ages, sizes and levels of income.

2. An orderly and creative arrangement of all land uses with respect to each other and to the entire community.

5. The location of structures to take maximum advantage of the natural and manmade environment.

6. The provision of adequate and well-designed open space for the use of all residents.

7. The staging of development in a manner which can be accommodated by the timely provision of public utilities, facilities and services.
